Baku is situated on the shore of the Caspian Sea in the south of the Absheron peninsula. A large area and population of over 3.2 million people, that all make Baku one of the oldest and largest cities in the region. Baku was one of the main cities in the era of King Shirvanshah's around 12th century. As Azerbaijan was part of Russia in Soviet Union it still has the marks of Soviet building structures and you can easily spot Russian ear landmarks. Baku consists of 11 administrative districts and 5 townships. The old city is a maze of alleys, mosques, historic buildings and remnants of fortification, including the Palace of the Shirvanshahs and the Maiden Tower, now listed among UNESCO's World Heritage Sites. A curious fact about Baku is that its average year-round temperature (14.2°C/57.6°F) matches the average temperature of the entire landmass of the earth, Summers are hot and humid, winters cool, wet and breezy. There are a few very nice sandy beaches on the Caspian. In particular Bilgah and Amburan beaches on the north coast of the Absheron Peninsula are great spots.
